

Canadian Coalition for High Blood Pressure Prevention and Control

When patients, on the advice of their physicians, use home blood pressure measurement in the management of their high blood pressure, the Canadian Coalition for High Blood Pressure Prevention and Control supports the use of accurate automated blood pressure measuring devices that have been shown by independent testing to meet the validation requirements of either the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation (AAMI), the British Hypertension Society (BHS) or the European Hypertension Society (EHS).

The Canadian Coalition for High Blood Pressure Prevention and Control is an inter-agency organization of professional, voluntary and governmental organizations and health agencies interested in the prevention and control of high blood pressure in Canada, and the Coalition aims to stimulate and promote a coordinated effort to combat high blood pressure in Canada so that it may ultimately be removed as a major threat to the health of Canadians.
